Midway Training Services Selected as a Contract Vendor for Document Scanning Services

The Minnesota Department of Administration recently selected Midway Training Services (MTS) as an approved contract vendor for document scanning services. MTS scanning services include document preparation, scanning, saving records to digital formats and document destruction.

“Under the contract number 439821 government agencies can save money on record storage and retrieval costs, when they convert to digital records,” stated Bob Brick, President/CEO. “This designation enables state agencies and other members of the state purchasing pool to call MTS when they want to implement digital solutions to address their digital imaging needs and record retention programs. A separate contracting process is not necessary. MTS has a highly trained and enthusiastic workforce ready to address the needs of members of the state purchasing pool.”

MTS is a private non-profit company that has been operating in Saint Paul for over 40 years. It provides a variety of employment and life skills training services to people who have disabilities.

MTS is a resource to government agencies, individuals and businesses which need access to reliable workers. In addition to records retention services, it provides reliable workers for light assembly, shrink wrapping, bulk mailing, janitorial, customer service and several other job areas.
